The policy of delay will be played by the Water company to the utmost, but it will hardly do any good in the end, as the pools. hardly do any good in the end, as the people want a trial of the case on its merits. Yesfor his water in advance, and does not get any water and his premises become filthy and his children sick, is it hardly to be ex-pected that he will restrain from criticising the company. The Water company will have a hard time proving to the citizen that he has been enjoying a plentiful supply of water all summer; that his water-closet has the water in the negro's face, and pulling a pistol shot the negro in the arm. Dr. Can-non was called in to examine the wound. Baskett denies that he is the man who is acnever been filthy; that he has got all the liquid he paid for, and that all the promises made to him have been rigorously kept. WANTED-A CONTINUANCE. Yesterday the following affidavit was filed n the case for a continuance:

in the case for a continuance:

The defendant makes oath that the indictment in this case was found at the present term; and that this is the first term at which the case is regularly triable, and that there is too great an excitement to its prejudice to come to trial at this term, and it therefore prays for a continuance to the mext term for the ends of justice and not for delay. The cause of this excitement is manifold, the great majority of the community is either directly or indirectly affected by the alteged crime. It is assumed to be WORSE THAN MURDER. It is charged that the alleged crime has produced the midst of the population of the city epi-emic diseases and has increased the death-rate is charged that the alleged crime is willful and but failing criminally to supply the public with water. Affant shows that these charges have been repeated, almost daily, for weeks by the entire press of the city. Three "dailtes" denounce the company and the stockholders, and ring the changes with variations on these charges, and have been doing so for weeks. In this way, with these inflammable appeals and the stream of abuse and ridicule, the whole public mind has been reached, and, with rare exceptions, filled with prejudices and worked.

against defendant. The few who offer a word of excuse or apology are overwhelmed by the volue of the many, which, in its present state, has prejudged and condemned, and looks forward to a tind as only a form to render that judgment of guilty which is already made up by the excited public. Appellant begs leave to refer to files of the daily press kept in the library adjoining the Courtroom, in corroboration of much that is stated in this affidavit. Affiant is not guilty. It will disprove the grave charges, but proof, in the midst of great public excitement, often falls to convince. Hence the law provides for continuance in such cases until the fever that excites passes away, giving place to a sentiment that makes it possible to have a fair and impartial trial.

Judge Horrigan promptly overruled the action for a continuance, and the attorneys for the company asked leave until to-day to draw up a stronger affidavit. EDITORS OF THE APPEAL—I understand our School Board are considering the propriety of fixing the daily sessions of the public schools at from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. I hope this will not be done. In the name of the children I do protest against it. It would be cruel to keep them in school daily for such a length of time. We take too little care of the physical education of the children, and no child, big or little, should be confined to our school rooms, at best, for the time contemplated. Let the little fellows out at 3 o'clock. Give them time for play, and plenty of it. A sound mind in a sound body is far more preferable than a finished mental education at the expense of physical health and a good digestion. I hope I have mental education at the expense of physical health and a good digestion. I hope I have been misinformed, but if not, let me put in this plea for the children. Knowledge is power, but health is wealth, and if health is broken down in childhood, where are the he informed an APPEAL reporter that, while he was acting as prosecuting attorney, he happened to get a witness who was testifying in a gambling case. THE MOORE CASE.

Yesterday an APPEAL reporter asked the Attorney-General if he had anything new in the Moore case, "We expect to have Hanson arrested tonight."
Where is he?" "At Galveston."
"What is the condition in Mrs. Smith's

"She has been indicted, and the case is working along spiendidly." THE REMARKABLE EXHIBITION "Have you got any new proof?"

"Yes; and some of a very strong character.
I have just heard from a machinist living in Mississippi, who volunteers the information, that he used to sleep with Hanson, and that the latter, on the day after the killing, had Moore's watch in his possession, and said that he had put the old man away the night before."

"Are there any other developments?"

"Yes; there is a letter written by Mrs.
Moore to Hanson, which we will produce. It is a very remarkable document, and was evidently written by a lawyer. In it she tells Hanson that he dare not ever "blow" on her, because he will at once convict himself. It seems he was dissatisfied with the re-muneration he got for the deed. There is also some important testimony about the pis tol, which had a notch in it."

Tanks Nos. 113 and 117, both near the line of Monroe street, have not been running for some time, but were reported as running yesoutskirts of the city, were reported as having pipes open, but not running. There are about one hundred and seventy-five of these of the sewer system. So long as there is any water in them at all the sewergas cannot escape but should the water stand so long that it evaporates, the gas will then escape in small quantities from the holes in the iron coverng. There does not seem to be any ground for apprehension just yet. The tanks can not be flushed, owing to the fact that usually there is not enough water pressure in the mains. They may get choked up with the mud, but there is not much likelihood of gas escaping unless it accumulates in such quantities as to bubble up through the water.
